I use to look on drink drivers with scorn - now with the new lower limits (which have not fixed the drink driving problem - earlier stuff article). Now I think unlucky! - they were probably like that woman in the TV advert - no way overly intoxicated just unlucky to get caught.

The cops seem to go after anything that is a quick easy buck!

Maybe we would get them coming out to burgled houses to investigate if we paid them $250.00! each time. |
